"I just got a report from a friend in North Carolina. This friend was out driving yesterday and saw two separate very strange anomalies in the sky. The first sighting was 5 spotlight-sized lights in a clear blue sky that blinked on and off. This was a bit to the left of the car.

My friend was still trying to figure that one out when about 1 mile down the road...to the right…all of a sudden a huge portion of the sky peeled back like the page of a book and revealed BLACK. Then the sky appeared to flip back to normal like the page of a book. There were no clouds in the sky. This really shook my friend up. It was totally bizarre."
